Introduction Most care of children and young people is delivered outside of the hospital setting and there is evidence that good primary care improves health outcomes. In addition there is a need to support their families too. Understanding the diagnosis, management and implications of common conditions as well as behavioural and developmental issues will improve the holistic care that GPs can give these patients and their families.

Objectives

1. To know how to manage different paediatric disorders in primary care
2. To be updated on latest evidence based management of common childhood illnesses
3. To be aware of when to refer and how to make best use of local resources in relation to common childhood conditions
